WHEREAS, on February 23, 2022, Russian President Vladimir Putin announced a “special military operation” in the Donbas region in eastern Ukraine and shortly after the announcement, Russia began attacking Ukraine on multiple fronts—including the capital Kyiv, western cities such as Lviv and the southern city of Kherson—from the land, air and sea; and

WHEREAS, Russian troops have been met with strong and courageous opposition from the Ukrainian military and citizen-resistance; and

WHEREAS, Ukraine has been at war with Russia since 2014, when Putin invaded the Crimea region of Ukraine and Putin refuses to acknowledge Ukraine as a sovereign nation; and

WHEREAS, Russia’s aggression against Ukraine has been met with widespread international condemnation, including from United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres, who asserted the Russian military offensive violates the UN Charter, and the European Union, which issued a statement strongly condemning the “unprovoked invasion of Ukraine by armed forces of the Russian Federation”, and called it a violation of international law; and

WHEREAS, the United States, Canada, Australia, Japan, the United Kingdom and other nations have announced significant economic sanctions on Russia and coordinated efforts to freeze Russian assets overseas and cripple Russia’s major banking institutions; and

WHEREAS, the U.S. Secretary of State should consider placing Russia on the State Sponsors of Terrorism list for repeatedly supporting acts of international terrorism; and

WHEREAS, to date, thousands of civilians have been reported dead, air strikes have targeted major cities and residential areas in Ukraine and approximately over 1.2 million refugees have fled to neighboring countries, an exodus the likes of which has not been seen since World War II; and

WHEREAS, the City Commission urges the Russian people, starting with the Russian military, to intervene and put an end to President Vladimir Putin's reign of terror; and

WHEREAS, the City Commission urges Russia to immediately withdraw all of its forces from Ukraine and recognize the sovereignty of Ukraine as an independent nation; and

WHEREAS, the City Commission has consistently used its public platform to speak out in support of international peace and security and in opposition to unjustified military aggression by and between nations; and

WHEREAS, the City Commission believes all people, including the Ukrainian people, have a right to democracy and to live in peace and freedom;
