City Clerk Item No. 41

K. DISCUSSION ITEMS

Mayor Cason: Commissioner Anderson.

Commissioner Anderson: Yes. Just one item. I've been working with - I've known Mr. Rios who lives in the area off of Sunset, citizen and he's had the unfortunate situation where he has had some squatters come in and live in a property that near him; and I've discussed this with the City Attorney and there are very few remedies that we can do unless they are violating laws or ordinances; and so what I wanted to do was have him bring back, our City Attorney bring back research from other cities on tougher squatter laws, because I think we might be able to do more to protect the neighborhoods because right now I think we are at a disadvantage and good law abiding people who have lived there a long time all their lives are being inconvenienced, their quality of life. So at the next Commission meeting would that be possible?

City Attorney Leen: Yes. I'll let you know if it's not, but I believe it will be. I will try to, based on what you said; I would look at other municipalities to see if there are any laws. Just so the Commission knows there is, and this happened with another squatter issue that occurred on El Rado Street. If there is a violation of our minimum housing code, which does happen sometimes in these circumstances, according to the Police and Code Enforcement, because I did speak to them about it and I also spoke to outside counsel to see what can you do in these situations. Often in situations where there are squatters there will be a minimum housing code violation because the squatters have no ownership or leasehold interest in the property so they can't, for example arrange for water or electricity, so sometimes that will have been turned off in those circumstances we can fine the minimum housing code violation and placard the house, which is what happened on El Rado Street and resolve that issue. There is another issue though, an underlying issue, which is that sometimes apparently banks will allow squatters to stay in the house and will take no action almost acquiescing in a sense, I guess, to prevent other people from coming into the house, other people are there at least someone is there is the bank's perspective is. We have been with Code Enforcement, we have been trying to contact banks and we've been citing banks when there is an actual Code violation, but based on these instructions what I can do is if it's OK with the Commission, I could coordinate with City staff and I can look into other municipalities to see if there are any laws which are missing, and also maybe put together a list of the laws that we have that Code Enforcement can use to enforce the law when there is a squatter situation and there is some violation of the law current.

Commissioner Anderson: Great. And pending that information maybe we can discuss that at the February meeting, maybe we can think about creating an ordinance if that's the will of the Commission. That's it for me.

Commissioner Cabrera: Can I just ask you with regards to this particular case that you brought up today and working with the City Attorney, I'm just curious. Were they connected to Miami-Dade Water and Sewage?

City Attorney Leen: Yes, I did take the request from the Commissioner and I did send it to staff, they did look into it and I've been informed that there is water and electricity, so we couldn't use the same approach. I'm going to try to reach out to the bank to see, and we've done that in the past, we did that with Bank of America, so I don't know who the bank is here, but this involved another property when we reached out to bank of America and they were very responsive. So I'm thinking maybe we can reach out to the bank here and see if maybe they don't know about the issue and will take some action.

Commissioner Cabrera: Interesting.

Commissioner Anderson: Great. Thank you very much.

Mayor Cason: Commissioner Cabrera.

Commissioner Cabrera: Thank you. Received an inquiry from several golfers at Granada Golf Course that there seems to be either a shortage of golf carts or there seems to be a lot of broken golf carts, and for example, I was told that on a weekend play by 10 a.m. all golf carts are unavailable the one they have on the course; and so I was wondering if maybe staff can look into this and get to the bottom of why we are having this difficulty with the golf carts at both Granada and Biltmore Golf Courses.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: We've had that before too.

Commissioner Cabrera: Yes, it's not new, it's a reoccurring issue.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: No, no, but it's something that needs to be corrected. I agree with you.

Commissioner Anderson: That's lost revenue and displeasure amongst our....

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: Whose responsibility?- is that the City or is that Biltmore?

Commissioner Cabrera: I'm not sure.

Mayor Cason: Do you know Mr. Manager?

City Manager Salerno: Operation of the golf of the Biltmore is their responsibility not ours.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: The golf carts?

City Manager Salerno: The golf carts, yes. They are the ones paying for the leases and if they wanted to have leased more golf carts they could have.

Mayor Cason: And Granada?

City Manager Salerno: Granada is the City's. I have not received any calls in that regard, but we are glad to look at it.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: We should do that, yes, we should do that, that's a problem.

Commissioner Cabrera: Well the problem exists. I received the call; I received the inquiry at Granada about it.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: They looked a little messy when last I was there.

Commissioner Cabrera: But you know what happens Bill?- when they break down they stay out of commission longer than anticipated and that causes players to have to wait longer and so as I was explained on weekend play, 10 o'clock all golf carts are unavailable, and if you drive by the starters area at Granada you'll see that there are very few carts out there period, anyway.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: Right. I believe that.

Commissioner Cabrera: Received an inquiry from a resident as it relates to the intersection of Alhambra and LeJeune Road, that intersection strangely enough northbound traffic and southbound traffic if they wish to make a left hand turn there is no light, there is no arrow for left hand turns.

Commissioner Quesada: It's impossible to make a left there.

Commissioner Cabrera: Impossible to make a left...

Commissioner Quesada: I avoid that intersection...

Mayor Cason: I drive it every day.

Commissioner Cabrera: You are taking your life into your own hands at that intersection.

Commissioner Quesada: Yes, I agree.

Commissioner Cabrera: So with that in mind what I'd like to see us do is contact Miami-Dade County Public Works to determine if a left hand arrow is appropriate. I have been told, I haven't seen this, but I have been told that there are numerous accidents there with people trying to make left hand turns.

Commissioner Quesada: I've seen a few. My office used to be on that corner so three times a day I was at that intersection.

Commissioner Cabrera: You were probably pretty high; your building was, I mean your floor was like...

Commissioner Quesada: We were on the 8th floor.

Commissioner Cabrera: So you had a pretty good view of it.

Commissioner Quesada: Yes and actually my window was looking at that intersection, so I would look at it; there was always backup, whoever was making a left turn was always either - you have to take the red...

Mayor Cason: It backs up the whole road.

Commissioner Quesada: It backs up the whole road. It's a legitimate traffic issue.

Commissioner Cabrera: So it was brought to my attention by....

Commissioner Quesada: Here's my concern with the County.

Commissioner Cabrera: What's that?

Commissioner Quesada: You know in that area near the Ingraham Park, you know there was a similar issue that there was just needed better signalization; and I spoke to Public Works and sent it to County, so I went directly to the County and it took me 15 months to get the light in, and now it's there now and it's a safer situation. So I don't know if we have better access.

Commissioner Cabrera: It may be interesting to see what the number is of accidents and if the number warrants....

Commissioner Quesada: Is that something we would have?

Commissioner Cabrera: Well Police Department would have a case number if in fact, I'm sure a query could be done of that intersection and we could see - for all I know maybe the accidents are minimal, but like Jim said and you said it's literally impossible to make a left hand turn there. You try to avoid it, but then here's what happens if you avoid it and you go north you go into a neighborhood. If you avoid it and you go south well then you have to make a left on Giralda or the next street, the next street does have a light.

Commissioner Quesada: It causes more congestion.

Commissioner Cabrera: Yes, it does.

Mayor Cason: There is another one like that on Granada and Coral Way turning left from Granada, it backs up.

Commissioner Cabrera: Yes.

Mayor Cason:...And I don't know if we can look into that as well, but it may not be as much traffic to warrant it, but...

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: The other thing that's happening here, if I can just - is on Ponce, we talked about this briefly, and I mentioned it to the City Manager, but there's got to be some signalization problems. As you are heading south, excuse me, north on Ponce there are huge backups now...

Commissioner Quesada: Ponce and where?

Commissioner Cabrera: Anywhere on Ponce.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: Anywhere on Ponce there are huge backups; and I initially attributed it the building of our senior citizen facility on Andalusia, but even when that's not backed up there are huge backups there and I think there is a signalization issue on either Miracle Mile or on Ponce, the staggering is not correct.

Commissioner Quesada: Do we control the timing of that?

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: That's the County, the County.

Commissioner Quesada: Even on City streets?

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: Even on City Streets.

Commissioner Cabrera: But we can make a request that it be looked at...

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: Because it's messy.

Commissioner Cabrera:...between governments. Question for the Manager. How are negotiations going with the Fire Union?

City Manager Salerno: They are ongoing. We had a meeting that was scheduled for a week or, 10 days ago and unfortunately it had to be cancelled due to one of our key members of our team, our outside actuary dealing with the pension issue had a tragedy in his family, a death, and we had to cancel it for that day and we are looking to get that rescheduled and we've discussed that it will be rescheduled, but we would have had a subsequent meeting and made some progress I believe, unfortunately of that tragedy it had to be postponed.

Commissioner Cabrera: Can we get an update on the senior center at an upcoming Commission meeting? I know that you are talking to the Palace about a potential - more than talking you are negotiating with them. I'd like all of us to get an update on it on the senior center.

Commissioner Anderson: That would be good.

City Manager Salerno: Be glad to.

Commissioner Cabrera: Great. That concludes my comments.

Mayor Cason: Thank you. Vice Mayor.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I really have nothing Mayor.

Mayor Cason: Mr. Quesada.

Commissioner Quesada: I have two items. Going back to E-1, Dade Medical College, the issue we had coming back, I know it's a rare occasion for it to come before the City Commission twice, but is it a possibility? Craig, Mr. City Attorney, you had mentioned that maybe we go before the Board of Architects and then they go before Zoning, and Board of Adjustment, and then they sort of consolidate any appeals at one time. I think that makes a lot of sense just so we don't have people "yo-yoing" back and forth from the Commission. I know it's a rare circumstance, but it might apply in a different situation not just signage, so that we can keep people from coming back and forth. Bill, have you ever seen, other than signage, one group appeal two different Board rulings?

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I can't remember seeing anything that was a weird situation. I can't remember either. There may have been a situation but I can't recall right off the hand of anything like that happening.

Commissioner Quesada: I don't know if staff, asking the City Attorney, or the City Manager to see if it makes sense to change the procedural rule to require that anything comes before us make sure it has been fully vetted by the different Boards before it comes to us.

City Manager Salerno: Commissioner, I think there is a lot of merit to that. The City Attorney and I have discussed that and certainly just on this year, let's call it logical aspect, that I can imagine as policymakers you would feel uncomfortable as acting on the aesthetics of something, but at the same time you are being told doesn't meet the sign requirements. I'll have discussions with the City Attorney and staff about perhaps requiring the zoning review to be done prior to and any action dealing with that. That does not solve all the issues, it's a "chicken and egg" situation as the City Attorney and I have discussed; however, what it would do is not put you into perhaps uncomfortable position to be voting on an aesthetics issue where you are also being told the sign does not meet Code.

Commissioner Quesada: And that was my conflict today, because I'm very much inclined to go with the DMC requested signage, but I don't know how the zoning is going to change the look and feel of it once it's shrunk down. I'll imagine not much, it didn't change much, I'm going to vote for it, but that was my conflict today, and this is something relatively minor, I don't want us to be put in that situation when it's something considerably more significant. That's it, so if you guys can just work together and see what makes sense and let us know maybe next meeting or when you guys are ready to discuss it again and we can go from there.

City Attorney Leen: If I may Commissioner, there may be a - I think what the Manager said makes a lot of sense and maybe we should have a lot of these initial staff determinations made right away. I do think that the other question though maybe there should be a rule, at least giving either the Manager or the Attorney or the Commission some sort of discretion to merge appeals in a procedural way, that could just require a Zoning Code text amendment and if the Commission is interested I could talk to the Manager and I could talk to the Zoning officials about whether we want to add at least - I think you implicitly already have that power that was my legal determination, but it's never harmful to make that expressed in the Zoning Code as well, it just gives you more authority, which I think is generally a good thing in these types of situations so you have flexibility as to how to address them.

Commissioner Quesada: Well let me just say that any ideas that you may have look into them and come back to us and tell us what you think is the best, that makes the most sense for the applicant as well as for the Commission and staff.

City Attorney Leen: Yes.

Commissioner Quesada: Thank you. That's it.

City Attorney Leen: Mr. Mayor I have one issue after you...

Mayor Cason: Go ahead.

City Attorney Leen: Are you sure?

Mayor Cason: Yes.

City Attorney Leen: I've been asked to just give a brief statement for your consideration and any feedback relating to the City's position related to the trolley building. Many of you may have seen that in the news, I'm sure everyone has. The newspaper has reported recently on the trolley building that's been proposed for an area in the west Grove and there has been reports that in some of the article attacking the City of Coral Gables related to that; and I just wanted to make a couple of points clear for the record. First, we have a trolley building right now in the City of Coral Gables, it's right near the high school you all know where it is, but for the benefit of the public its near the high school near Merrick Park; and a developer came to the City and made a request that the, and this was something that came before you a number of months ago, related to a land swap, and they wanted to basically use that area for development and they wanted to give us a trolley building in exchange. I talked to our outside counsel because to me this is becoming very quickly a legal matter, and I talked to our outside counsel and he just wanted me to make it clear to you, and I wanted to make it clear as well, that in approving that land swap this Commission and City staff and our outside counsel made it clear from the beginning that the trolley building, whatever trolley building was swapped, whatever they gave us had to comply with all laws, federal, state and local, and that it was not our intention to force a trolley building on any community. It was up to the developer to get these approvals and that was the agreement that was approved by this Commission, they had to get the approvals. When that agreement was approved this Commission - there was no appeal or objection that this Commission knew about. So in my view no matter what happens in this case regarding the proposed trolley building in the west Grove, this City was not aware of those issues, at least the City Commission when this came up. Now our counsel was aware, at least he has informed me that the concerns that if they - the proposed location was in the City of Miami and there was a concern that well, that has to be looked at by the City of Miami zoning officials potentially their Commission, potentially their public there might be objections, and if they are not able to get that approval we want that to be on the developer, they are proceeding at risk essentially, and Coral Gables doesn't have to close on that transaction ultimately if they are not able to get us the trolley building to exchange. So it's my understanding that the City of Miami was made aware of the proposed use for this building from the beginning and that our contractor with the developer requires them to get all the approvals. Now, I have given an opinion and I just wanted to make it clear to everyone that I don't believe that the City because we are in an agreement with the developer and we've signed a contract with them, I have stated that in my view the City cannot interfere with that contract; the developers have to meet certain conditions in order to close on the agreement. One of those conditions is that they have to present us the trolley building that meets all of these laws. Now that's obviously been called into question, at least in the news and I've been informed that there is a potential that there may be a lawsuit that's filed, that's going to have to be resolved by the developer, because the City will not accept the building ultimately unless all of those issues are fully resolved and there is no risk to the City. So the problem is that we can't, at least in my view, we have to act very carefully in this matter because if we make it more difficult for the developer to get those approvals they may argue that we are frustrating or making it difficult for them to meet a condition.

Commissioner Quesada: So we are breaching the contract.

City Attorney Leen: They may argue that. Now at this point I have to say it's been made clear to us publicly that there may be a zoning issue, they have to resolve that. I think we can legally tell them that, look, under our agreement we are supposed to be getting a trolley building without any of these legal issues...

Commissioner Quesada: Any encumbrances?

City Attorney Leen: Yes.

Commissioner Quesada: So if we right now said hypothetically, we said, we want no part of this, we would be in breach of contract with the developer, is that what you are saying?

City Attorney Leen: At some point, if there is a legal issue with this trolley building they commit a breach of the contract; there is an anticipatory review...

Commissioner Cabrera: They can, they can.

City Attorney Leen: But they haven't - in my view this issue is still being resolved, there hasn't been any lawsuit filed as of this time, it's my understanding the developer is trying to work this out still, and we have to give them that opportunity, but I did want to say that we are insisting that any questions regarding these approvals are resolved; and I've been invited to go to a meeting with, I believe, certain community groups and with the University of Miami, it's a seminar where Professor Alfieri I think is the head of it...yes it's on ethics, they've invited me to attend, I will attend because I want to make it clear to the public why we are not getting more involved in negotiating with the community directly because we are in privity with the developer who has to do that, but I also want them to understand our position so they don't think we are ignoring them or anything like that. We obviously view this as a very important issue; and I'm bringing this to your attention, one, because it's a major material issue that has come up and it's been in the news and I want you to know about it, but two, also to get your feedback and give you the opportunity to ask me any questions.

Commissioner Cabrera: Well the only comment I have because I think you've done a very good job of laying out the process as it relates to the City, at the same time I think it's important to point out to you that when I became aware of inquiries from the West Grove Homeowners Association, I not only alerted City staff, I brought it up in an informal discussion period in December of 2011, and openly discussed it again with the hopes because we are a) getting this trolley depot built for us, and b) going to be the end-user of the trolley I was hopeful that we would at least have some dialogue with that community, whether it be through the developer or directly, I was hopeful that that would have taken place. Now how much of it took place?- I don't know. As I said before, and I said this to the newspaper, a memo was written by me and a discussion was held by me with the Commission. So that's the only correction I would make of the comments you made sir.

Commissioner Anderson: I understand the legal parts so I'm not going to even touch that. I was wondering in the past, I remember when we've had issues bordering our own borders, we've taken a strong stand, we've actually attended, our staff has attended planning meetings and asked to make sure that our area, our bordering, our community are protected and sometimes they do sometimes they don't, but we are engaged. I would just love, and I know this will probably not going to happen, for us as a City to...City to other City to maybe proffer landscaping or a trolley stop something simple to build goodwill. I'm not trying to interfere with the developer's contract or anything like that. I'm just tossing it out there, because I think we are impacting a neighborhood that is very poor and I think that they are looking for simple solutions, so. I throw it out there and that's all for me now.

Mayor Cason: My impression was, I don't have detailed knowledge, but that the developer had quite a lot of landscaping that was going to go in around the garage, is that...do you know?

City Attorney Leen: I would have to defer to staff on that. I don't know what the developer's current situation is.

Commissioner Cabrera: Commissioner Sarnoff did send me some information. To me the way this depot is being built, it's very thoughtful in the standpoint that parking is being addressed, buffers are being addressed, landscaping is being addressed, and those are all good, those are all good things, but there is nothing wrong in having that kind of dialogue and as Commissioner Anderson pointed out if there was an opportunity to enrich that community through either a trolley stop or something along the lines as a gracious offer from the City I think it would have certainly gone a long way, that's my feeling on it you know.

Commissioner Quesada: At the time we voted on this, I think we all voted on this unanimously 5-0, right?

Commissioner Cabrera: Yes, correct.

Commissioner Quesada: And we didn't or at least I didn't know of any objections or any concerns at that time, I don't think any of us did. I would like to hear what kind of conversations our staff did have with Miami or the developer or any kind of meetings, if that's OK with you Mr. Manager?

City Manager Salerno: Yes. I was prepared to bring something up but had decided not to, but since Commissioner Cabrera has brought up the issue of asking staff to do things, etc. I feel that I need to respond to Commissioner Cabrera your comments in the paper criticizing me. Here today you are very balanced and free to say whatever you like; however, in the paper you strongly criticized me specifically for not doing anything and not responding to you, this was in a recent article in the Miami Herald. I need to for the record state this because I don't get a chance; I wasn't given an opportunity to respond to your comments in that meeting. As you recall Commissioner, on the 28th of November you received an e-mail and it was an e-mail that had been referred to you from Mr. J.S. Rasheed, one of the community leaders within the Coconut Grove neighborhood, and he asked you if you would like to know if you could attend their executive community meeting on December 5th at 6 o'clock. You forwarded that item to me and it said, it concluded with please follow up appropriately.

At a subsequent meeting, I think it was December 13th, you asked me what did I do?- I said I referred the matter directly to the developer, I requested that they attend and discuss the matter and they did, and Commissioner you had no follow up to my statement, no indication that that was not adequate, no indication that you wanted me to do something else. Just simply I made the statement you accepted it, that was the close of the matter, but you chose subsequently to attack me for not doing my job, for not responding, and basically for doing nothing where you knew that when you were asked that, that I had; and I think you went beyond that, beyond trying to make me look bad, I think you also tried to make this Commission look bad and the City look bad; and I wasn't going to bring this up, but it would have been nice if you had responded to the press as you did just now and I wouldn't even be talking about this matter at this point, OK. Commissioner....

Commissioner Cabrera: I'm going to get a chance to speak.

City Manager Salerno: Of course you are a Commissioner.

Commissioner Cabrera: I'm talking to my colleagues sir.

City Manager Salerno: Commissioner with all due respect you were the one invited to the meeting with the residents, you got the e-mail, you have the e-mail. If you really cared about those Coconut Grove residents as you were quoted as saying, "I felt for these people", end quote, you would have gone to the meeting instead of telling me to handle it, which I did, which you had no problem with what I did, but then you criticized me after the fact and you didn't criticize me at the time that I told you what I was doing. Furthermore, you had two opportunities to raise questions about the plans and the developer's intentions to secure a site in the City of Miami when it came before you for the votes on First and Second Reading, July 24th and I believe the second one was August 28th. You sat silent Commissioner, yet you found it appropriate to criticize me for doing nothing. Not one question about the Coconut Grove residents, not one question about what was happening with regards to this project with relation to the neighborhoods, but yet you criticized me for doing nothing. I was not invited to attend that meeting, you were. That's all I wanted to say. I wanted the record to reflect how I felt about the matter and I appreciate your version of it today, and I did not appreciate your commenting that I did nothing and frankly as far as I was concerned you were satisfied with my response and with staff's response when I heard nothing from you. That's all I have.

Commissioner Cabrera: OK. I stand by everything I said to the Miami Herald and at no point in time would I be critical of any of you. Let me just say for the record, I did not get a memo as the Manager just outlined...

City Manager Salerno: I never said memo.

Commissioner Cabrera: Excuse me, don't interrupt me. Yes, you did, you did. Five minutes ago you said the word memo. I wrote it down, you said memo, OK, but I'm not...

City Manager Salerno: Did not.

Commissioner Cabrera:...I stayed silent when you were speaking, so let's reciprocate. I did not get a memo. What happened was I met with Commissioner Xavier Suarez on or about that time that I reached out to the City Manager. In that meeting one of his staff members articulated very clearly some serious inquiries that this West Grove Homeowners Association had, and in fact mentioned one of the leaders name, and I told him have him reach out to me. That leader, Mr. Rasheed, reached out to me via City Hall, left me a voicemail with Candy. I responded to his voicemail, discussed it with him and said, it's not appropriate for me to come, it could be a quasi-judicial matter and it's best that I do not attend a meeting where something like this could be discussed it later comes back to us and I have to then recues myself, but I'll tell you what, I'll forward it to the City Manager's office. I sent a memo to the City Manager with an attachment of my messages that included Mr. Rasheed's telephone number so that he would have the person's name who made the inquiry and would follow up on this process. The Manager never responded to my message and in fact in the subsequent meeting he basically suggested that he understood what was being requested and saw no reason to respond to me, at least that's what I recall from the discussion. I brought it up to all of us in December and explained that there had been a concern voiced by this community. The Manager once again clarified for me that he had forwarded to the developer. I believe I expressed my angst with what I really wanted to see happen and he corrected me by saying you did not specifically, and I don't have the minutes, he does, he is reading them, but I basically wanted him to follow up on this issue because I thought that this would be a standard operating procedure for this government to reach out to a neighboring government on a matter that pertains to both sides, I mean, let's face it, we are the end-user, this deal, this project would never be going forward if we did not approve the land swap, and as far as my willingness or unwillingness to ask questions, that's my prerogative in a Commission meeting. We had people from the Gables side of that area present, I remember speaking to several of them, they had no concerns at that time, and therefore I saw no reason to ask any questions. So that's my version and I stand by my quotes in the paper, I stand about my feelings regarding how the Manager handled this matter, and that's all I have to say this afternoon or morning still morning. Now do you want to keep this going Jim?

City Manager Salerno: I just want one....Mayor...

Commissioner Cabrera: No, Jim do you want to keep this going?- because we can, we can keep it going till....

City Manager Salerno: I have one further word and I will...

Commissioner Cabrera: He had a concern and I responded to his concern and now you are going to give him another - OK, I forgot....

City Manager Salerno: That's the right of free speech I guess is about.

Commissioner Cabrera: Well you are our employee; this is not a matter of free speech.

City Manager Salerno: I know. I'm your subordinate Commissioner...I am your subordinate...

Commissioner Anderson: Yes you are.

City Manager Salerno:...just like 791 others here are and if you were to treat the 791 people like you treat me, I dare say....

Commissioner Cabrera: Sir - sir....

Commissioner Anderson: Can I inject a point of order here?

City Manager Salerno: I want to stay on point.

Commissioner Anderson: I rise to a point of order. I rise to a point of order.

City Manager Salerno: I just want to say one thing. Commissioner the only thing I'm trying...

City Attorney Leen: The point of order takes precedence. What is the point of order?

Commissioner Anderson: I want to stop this. Let me just say, I have lived through 3 now 4 City Managers; tough times throughout we'll all have them in the future with whoever is sitting there, but the one thing that was sacred in a public official that sits at the will of the Commission is that you don't respond with such callousness and disrespect as he is being allowed to, and I'm trying - I came today to this Commission meeting intent on not engaging in this, but Jim, Frank, this is not standard operating procedure for the way Commissions and Managers and City Attorneys and City Clerks interact, I just offer that for you because it's really disturbing and it's hard to watch from the residents who watch that, and we ultimately have to think of that. When I leave you all are going to continue to be the bosses and I hope you will be, but this is just intolerable and it's just not because 5-6 months ago I asked for a resignation, it's just intolerable to have someone who sits as an equal to us, I mean it's unbelievable, and I rest my case and I'm on my way. Thank you.

Mayor Cason: You have anything else? OK. Thank you very much. The meeting is adjourned.
