Public Sphere Projects

Public Sphere Projects is a national planning and placemaking consultancy. We advise place managers on the visioning, strategy, and stewardship of shared urban places through an uncompromising commitment to the values of justice and joy. Our work varies in location and scale: from long-term strategic planning to tactical interventions. But it is always in partnership with place managers, city agencies, community leaders, and property owners who steward the public realm — and always in service to community.

Public Sphere Projects brings extensive experience in creative placemaking and place-keeping, activation and programming, public art curation and installation, cultural planning, and pilots and pop-ups. In this body of work, Public Sphere Projects will support P.U.M.A. with the creation of a business plan by providing subject matter expertise in public realm activation, programming, and events.

Local Community Engagement/Public Relations Expertise

In response to the unique circumstances in Coral Gables and the background on this project, if selected, we propose working closely with the City team to identify and sub-contract with a firm located in Coral Gables or a neighboring community that specializes in engagement and public relations for planning processes and/or political campaigns. We believe planning and district formation processes move at the pace of trust, and want to ensure the City is set up for success by lifting up and tapping into local political knowledge and expertise.

SECTION III: PROJECT APPROACH & METHODOLOGY

Project Understanding

It is our understanding that the City of Coral Gables is seeking a consultant to facilitate the formation of a dependent Retail Business District (RBD) in Downtown. We understand that there was a Business Improvement District (BID) in Downtown for 25 years, but in response to its dissolution in 2022, the City's Economic Development Department has taken on key projects and initiatives that are beloved by the Coral Gables community. Realizing that there is demand for these services above and beyond what the City is able to provide, the City is now seeking to create a new assessment-based district to make the desired additional services and enhancements financially sustainable in the long-term. Specific project objectives include:

- Assess the dynamics of Downtown Coral Gables' economic, political, and planning environment to understand significant market changes that have occurred over the past five years resulting in the dissolution of the BID, and to anticipate those that can be reasonably expected through the next five years.
- Determine current challenges and opportunities in Downtown.
- Understand service and program priorities for a new improvement district (e.g., events and activation, enhanced maintenance, beautification, marketing, etc.).
- Engage a variety of stakeholders (i.e., property and business owners, civic leaders, community members, etc.) in a participatory process to ensure there is stakeholder support for successful formation of a new assessment district in Downtown Coral Gables.
- Work closely with the City's legal counsel to determine and meet key project milestones and deadlines.
- Develop a detailed, action-oriented business plan reflective of community priorities to guide the special assessment district upon formation.

Proposed Approach

To meet the preceding objectives and respond to the dynamics described in the RFP and pre-proposal meeting, we recommend a three-phased approach to this project, that would include: Phase 1) Feasibility; Phase 2) Plan Development; and Phase 3) Formation. This recommended approach is informed by our extensive experience working in communities with past challenges related to special districts, and is intended to ensure there are adequate market fundamentals and property and business owner support to form a new special district in Downtown Coral Gables before proceeding with subsequent business plan creation and the legal district formation process.

At the end of each phase described in-detail on the following pages, the consultant team, City staff, and district stakeholders will pause and determine the desirability of moving on to the subsequent phase. If selected, we will work closely with the City team and legal counsel to create a detailed, phased project timeline based on key district formation milestones to guide the overall process.

To ensure a smooth process, we recommend that the City of Coral Gables designate a staff project manager to work with the consultant team. Tasks for the project manager will include working with the Assessor's Office to compile a comprehensive property database for the district, identifying key Downtown stakeholders to engage in the process, and arranging logistics for stakeholder meetings and site visits.

Additionally, to provide input, direction, an overall "sense of reality," and eventually champion formation of the new district, a Working Group comprised of business, property, resident, and civic representatives is recommended to work with the consultant team through the duration of the project. Our goal is that by the end of the district formation process, the Working Group will lead a campaign, supported by the consultant team and City, to create the new district.

Additional detail on our recommended approach is provided below.

Phase 1: Feasibility

- 1.1 District Orientation and Field Work: The consultant team will gain an initial understanding of Coral Gables' real estate dynamics by reviewing recent plans and market studies. We will undertake a site visit to become acquainted with the district study area, assess recent changes including context around the dissolution of the BID, and understand opportunities for the next five years. We will meet with influential stakeholders and conduct an initial workshop with the Working Group. Field work will help us understand the physical characteristics and conditions in Downtown, giving the consultant team an understanding of services that exist and/or are needed. It will also help further refine the study area boundaries of the new district, if necessary. We anticipate a two- to three-day site visit to become acquainted with Downtown and conduct stakeholder meetings.
- 1.2 Database Refinement: With assistance from the City, a property owner database will be compiled and refined, including fields for parcel ID, ownership, and property characteristics including classification, building and lot square footage, frontage, and assessed value. The database will be used for initial analysis on assessment methodology options for the prospective district.
- 1.3 Stakeholder Engagement: Working closely with the City and our local engagement/public relations partner, we will develop a stakeholder outreach plan and communication strategy with the goal of engaging key Downtown constituents in various formats. Engagement will seek to both educate and seek priorities from property owners, businesses, and residents within Downtown. In addition to regular workshops with the Working Group, we anticipate up to eight (8) focus group meetings with key Downtown constituent groups, up to fifteen (15) one-on-one meetings with influential and/or larger property owners, and a widely-distributed online survey to understand the broader community's priorities for Downtown. We will also meet with City officials, departments, and committees to better understand the level of local government and elected official support for a new special district. We will plan for a combination of remote and on-site meetings.
- 1.4 Special District Feasibility Assessment: Based on the findings from the above three steps, the team will prepare a brief Special District Feasibility Assessment for Downtown Coral Gables. The report will recap our findings from stakeholder engagement, field work, and database analysis. It will provide initial recommendations for refined boundaries (if needed), anticipated services, and a range that assessment methodology options could expect to generate. Lastly, the report would offer our estimation of special district-readiness (e.g., a scale rating). Special district readiness will primarily be based on the following factors:
- A clear need – There should be positive response from stakeholders on the concept, and consensus on what services would most benefit the district.
 - Private sector support and champions – Private sector leaders must champion the special district concept and be the most visible stakeholders promoting the concept.
 - Local government/elected official support – Local government should be in support of the process and willing to offer technical assistance and data, plus consider financial participation in the district.
 - Real estate economics and pricing – The special district should be priced to balance two concerns. It needs to raise enough funds to sufficiently capitalize desired programs, yet not be too expensive to cause stress on local real estate and businesses. Hitting this balance is critical to both success in the formation stage, and then success in operations. In certain instances, local real estate economics make this balancing act unachievable.

The Feasibility Assessment will be shared with City staff and the Working Group, and a collective decision will be made on whether or not to move on to Phase 2.

Phase 2: Business Plan Development

2.1 Draft Special District Business Plan: Based upon the stakeholder priorities identified in the preceding steps, the first draft of the Business Plan will be compiled. The plan will be designed as a user-friendly educational tool for property and business owners, plus the broader Downtown community. The Business Plan will include the following components:

- A user-friendly executive summary;
- Background on Coral Gables;
- District rationale and objectives;
- Summary of stakeholder engagement, including priorities for Downtown;
- A vision, mission, and goals for the proposed special district;
- Recommended district boundaries and identification of any benefit zones;
- Governance and service delivery structure, including:
 - Service plan options with first year budget and multi-year projections;
 - Recommended Board structure and logistics;
 - Criteria to track and measure success of the district;
- Organizational structure and staffing recommendations;
- Recommended assessment methodology explanation and list of affected properties;
- Timetable and step-by-step guide for district creation, including self-assessment vote logistics;
- Other issues related to district management and formation.

P.U.M.A. -LED WORKSHOP

The preliminary Business Plan will be forwarded to the Working Group for review in advance of a subsequent Plan review workshop. The Plan will also undergo a review by the City's legal counsel to ensure that it is in compliance with applicable State of Florida and local statutes.

2.2 Base Level of Services: A quantified definition of the City's existing level of services within Downtown and a commitment to maintain a base level of services will begin during the Feasibility phase of the project, and will be formalized concurrently to development of the Business Plan. The consultant team will work closely with the City to provide model base level of services agreements from other cities, assist in negotiations, and participate in the process as requested.

2.3 Plan Review Workshops and Meetings: The consultant team will present the options and recommendations from the preliminary Business Plan to Downtown stakeholders through a series of workshops and meetings with individual property owners. Participants from Phase 1 focus groups and interviews will be encouraged to attend the workshops. The intent of the workshops is to obtain stakeholder input and buy-in prior to finalization of the Business Plan.

Following the Business Plan workshops and meetings, the consultant team will hold a briefing with the City, the Working Group, and other key partners to ensure there is sufficient support for moving forward to special district formation. If we determine there is support to move forward with district formation, we will work closely with the City's legal counsel to formalize key deadlines and develop a work program to ensure those deadlines are successfully met.

Phase 3: Formation

The RFP alludes to a vote of the affected property owners. We would work with City staff and legal counsel to determine the detailed process required for district formation and what this vote entails; and refine the following approach based on that information.

- 3.1 Database Verification/Refinement: To prepare for the property owner vote, the database will be refined to reflect the finalized boundaries, assessment rates, and year 1 special assessments to be paid by each property. The database would also be expanded to have fields to capture details on property owner support, opposition, etc. to be used during this final phase.
- 3.2 Special District Fact Sheet: The consultant team will prepare a summary that communicates the parameters and benefits of the RBD in a concise 1-to-2-page format.
- 3.3 “Campaign” Coaching: The consultant team will monitor and provide assistance to the City and Working Group during the formation phase and City Commission approval process. These meetings will include tracking support, making “sales” assignments for property owners, and developing strategies for approval of the district.
- 3.4 City Commission Approval: Upon the completion of the above, the consultant team can be available to participate in public hearings establishing the district.
