K. DISCUSSION ITEMS

Mayor Slesnick: Mrs. Anderson.

Commissioner Anderson: I'm good, thanks.

Mayor Slesnick: Mr. Cabrera.

Commissioner Cabrera: You know, I was hoping I was able to bring a letter that I received recently. Did you all get the same letter from Mr. Miles McGrane?- he copied the rest of the members of the Commission - Miles McGrane, the attorney.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I don't think he sent me.

Mayor Slesnick: About what? I can't remember it.

Commissioner Cabrera: You know the letter is sitting on my desk in my office.

Mayor Slesnick: We can get it and come back to you.

Commissioner Cabrera: Would you mind?- so I can - none of us got the letter because I learned that, later on I've learned that today that none of us got the letter, but I found the letter, it's addressed to all five of us, it will make sense when I get that letter and share it with you. Let me go do that.

Mayor Slesnick: Mr. Kerdyk.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I don't have anything else to add.

Mayor Slesnick: Mr. Withers.

Commissioner Withers: Yes, I do. I don't mean to spring this on the City Manager at the last minute, but I was just reading an e-mail. Where are we with, and I don't know how much you can say, and how much you can't say; where are we with the finalization with the financial review of the Biltmore and what's your timeframe?- where are we on that?- as far as I know we approved the agreement, the Trust Agreement, they started the investigation, I guess at this point.

City Manager Salerno: A couple of weeks ago, the Biltmore has been providing PriceWaterhouse with the documents. What I'm told is they've been responsive in providing that information to PriceWaterhouse. It is voluminous and there are weekly updates when there is something to say, I expect to have a weekly update this Friday, and at this point I can only tell you it is going along and they are making progress in their analysis, but again, all the documents they have asked for to my understanding, nearly all I doubt it is all, nearly all have been provided, and it's an ongoing process right now. I expect it to move within a reasonable time to coming to their ability to formulate their recommendations, and at that time we'll have the information necessary for you to act. I don't want to put a timeframe on it, they are working - they have a team of three folks that are working on it, and I'm told that they are making progress. We want the benefit of their complete analysis and not to give a judgment in some respect before they are able to come to their own conclusions.

Commissioner Withers: I don't know how the rest of the Commission feels, but is there going to be an opportunity for us to meet individually with the....?

City Manager Salerno: Absolutely. In fact I believe...

Commissioner Withers: Can we do that before the next Commission meeting?

Commissioner Cabrera: Meet with whom? Meet with whom? You didn't get to finish your sentence.

Commissioner Anderson: PriceWaterhouse.

Commissioner Withers: The consultants.

Commissioner Cabrera: Oh, OK.

City Manager Salerno: I think the City Attorney has already...

City Attorney Hernandez: One-on-one.

City Manager Salerno:...That has been anticipated in conjunction with the City Attorney that the Commissioners wanted the opportunity to have one-on-one briefings to whatever extent.

Commissioner Withers: Will that be before their main presentation or would it be after their main presentation?

City Attorney Hernandez: They are serving, if I may, they are serving as a consultant to the city so I don't anticipate and I would not recommend that they may give a public presentation. I believe that they should meet with each of the Commissioners, I so advised the City Manager, they need to meet with the City Manager, and then at that time we will know where we need to go in terms of negotiations with the Biltmore, just as we've done in other situations, Village of Merrick Park, you know go forward, and hopefully bring to you something that we either agree with the Biltmore on, or we disagree, but you know...

Commissioner Withers: That's my whole point is, we don't meet again till what?

City Attorney Hernandez: July 13th.

Commissioner Withers: So if this report is done in the next couple of weeks and you've reviewed it, hopefully we'll have the opportunity, can we schedule meetings before the next Commission meeting with these?

City Attorney Hernandez: If it's done.

City Manager Salerno: If it's done we'll do that, I can't prejudge and schedule things before I'm told the consultant is ready.

Mayor Slesnick: My concern and I've expressed this to the Manager on several occasions is that, you know we are talking and I know that everybody is doing what they can to get it done, including the Biltmore. I don't see, this is kind of like something that was said a long time ago, I can't see this process ending in the next couple of months, Chip, just can't see it. This fact finding that we're doing is just fact finding, and then it's going to go into negotiations, and it's going to have meetings as you said are appropriate with each of us maybe. We are talking about, I don't see anything happening constructively on the whole issue before August, if we are lucky, and I am scared to death that the Biltmore is facing a summer season like all the other properties, tourist properties, and they have a line of credit which is held up by this whole thing, and I just have to tell you I am concerned, I've been concerned, and I will stay concerned that we are not in the business here of, I will again say this, what I have announced to the city the way that the Biltmore did about their need to renegotiate and their withholding, no, that's not the tact I would have taken, I don't agree with it, but the fact is they have been good corporate citizens for seventeen years providing the citizens of the city up to the terms of their agreement, the payments, and we don't want to drive them out of business, and I can tell you if they don't get this line of credit for the summer they are going to have a hard time staying in business, and I think we've got to do something on an interim basis to get them that line of credit. It needs to be done. I don't care if we forfeit the right to go back and default them, it wasn't our purpose in the beginning to default them. The purpose was to work out an arrangement that we can go forward; they have a 99 year lease with the city, they've been productive people, we want to keep them there, there is no reason that we - we've seemed to have taken an attitude that we want to like purge ourselves, I don't want to do that; I want to work out a productive resolution on their part and our part. If they can't come to table and meet our needs in the end then there will have to be some change, but the fact is I want them there to be a part of the discussion, and they may not be if we take this - we are not doing anything until the end of this study. We've got to do something.

Commissioner Cabrera: I just tell you, it's going to be very difficult for us to really be able to do anything but fish or cut bait, and that is cooperate with them in terms of what their needs are, or tell them that we are not going to move forward as partners. I don't see any other alternative; too much time has gone by and it continues to go by and so this process just lingers, and lingers, and lingers, and we sit here and talk about it every time one of us brings it up...

Mayor Slesnick: OK, I'm prepared to support telling the Manager and our city administration that I'd like to have some type solution to their credit issues, if that requires a letter waiving our default rights at this moment, or if that requires an interim agreement, that's what I'm prepared to do, so...

Commissioner Withers: What do you mean by that, Don?

Mayor Slesnick: I don't even know. I have the City Attorney and City Manager figure out what I mean.

Commissioner Cabrera: Well I think the interim agreement would be - I would not want to waive default, but I would certainly be willing to support you on an interim agreement basis.

Mayor Slesnick: There's got to be a way, you know, there's just got to be a way; and I can tell you right now, if the Biltmore right now goes out of business in July this Commission should be ashamed of itself, and this administration...

Commissioner Cabrera: But Don, but Don...

Mayor Slesnick:...I'm just saying that, that's what - we are all sitting here drawing the line in the sand saying we are not going to cross that line.

Commissioner Cabrera: Don, Don, this is the third or fourth time we've had this conversation and every single time we show a tremendous desire to have the administration move this process forward in an expedited fashion, each and every time, I have yet to see any of us say, we have to take our time, we really have to study this, we really have to get all our eggs in line, I don't ever see this body do that, I see us all trying to make something happen, but then you know you kind of get told its work in progress.

Commissioner Anderson: Let me give you some of my point of view for whatever its worth. It's a fine line because I believe - I love the Biltmore what they've done in the last seventeen years, and if there were a way to have a letter, if there were a way to fashion something that would not remove our rights from anything, I would love for that to happen; however, I don't know what that looks like, I don't know what that language would look like, I wish we could finish this audit so we could do that. I understand the situation; I just don't want to waive our rights to do anything. I would like to relieve them of - to be able get their credit released, but I don't know, I'm not a legal person; I have banded that about with their administration and I don't know, it doesn't always seem possible because there are certain legal terms, I'm not sure that...

City Attorney Hernandez: In December when they requested, and obviously we refer to have these discussions with you one-on-one, they have their discussions with their attorneys privately and this puts us in a very difficult posture advising you on moving forward, but in December when they requested a letter from my office, we worked on a letter and provided to them what we felt was a letter that was protective of the city, but at the same time it was a letter. Initially, we were told by them, yes, please send it, I don't remember the name of the party, and then their attorney called me and said, please do not send that letter; and so when they have asked us for correspondence that you know, is assistance, we have attempted to assist without prejudicing the rights of the city in protecting the Biltmore. I agree with the City Manager that we need numbers in order to give you appropriate advice, and I hear you Mr. Mayor and we will try...

Mayor Slesnick: You know, we are acting as litigants as opposed to partners, that's my problem. We are supposed to be partners with these people for 99 years and we are acting as if we are litigants against them now. Again, before anyone misunderstands me, I understand who caused this issue, it was caused by the Biltmore declaring they weren't paying the rent; they said that there were good reasons for that. The Manager is doing a diligent effort to determine if the reasons are in fact good reasons why they need a new deal. I don't fault anyone for any of that, what I do want is for us to seemingly - you know, you can even come to a dissolution of your partnership at some point in time, but until you get to dissolving it you can act as if you are partners with one goal in mind, that is to save the Biltmore Hotel, to continue it as a premiere property in the State of Florida, and an outstanding landmark for the City of Coral Gables. We should all be in this together, we should all be working toward that goal, and we should not be acting as if we are going for each other's throats. It's no one's fault except the Biltmore, let's blame them, they started the issue; they say they have good cause for starting the issue and we are getting to the bottom of that cause, but until we get there I really and truly believe that we need to be more outreaching and more encompassing, and more understanding and try to get this, so that we can get through the summer. A year ago, a year and-a-half ago, I bought a charity auction item to support our Chamber of Commerce, which was a weekend at the Biltmore, I have never used that until this weekend, I decided finally with grave reservations by going over to the enemy lines and staying at the Biltmore, I'm serious, that's where we are getting to, you know, it's like, you almost feel like sneaking in the back door, so somebody doesn't say well did you go over and talk to the Biltmore people. So I went over and we spent part of the weekend because we live five blocks away its kind of hard to relocate, you kind of run back and forth, but we did. There are maintenance issues that need to be addressed there with the historic building that there is lack of money to do, there are problems there; the place though was really bustling with people because it was the Memorial Day weekend; people love the Biltmore, I mean, you know you walk around and people would talk about what a great place, what an iconic place it is; people I didn't know, and as you walk around there was a certain swelling up of pride that this is a city property and that this is a city asset, and I just don't want to see...

City Attorney Hernandez: Why don't I do this in order to attempt to at a minimum alleviate some of your concerns and set up a telephone conference with each of you and our Special Counsel and our City Manager, and that way we can walk you through the pros and cons from our perspective, OK?- and then at that point you can then at least act with knowledge, and understanding of both sides of the issue, not just one side. I don't believe that we have had....

Mayor Slesnick: Excuse me, excuse me, wait, wait, wait, are you suggesting that we are not understanding of our city side?

City Attorney Hernandez: No sir I'm not.

Mayor Slesnick: Excuse me Liz; we are part of the city side.

City Attorney Hernandez: Mr. Mayor, what I'm saying is that we haven't had a one-on-one with you on the interim agreement that proposed by the Biltmore.

Mayor Slesnick: Excuse me, excuse me, I've talked to you and I've talked to the Manager, I know your concerns, I know the Manager's concerns, I appreciate concerns; I'm asking that we try to find some way to bend a little bit around our concerns to get the job done, that's my request. I'm leaving it at that, I don't need to be briefed anymore, and for you to imply that I don't understand the city's point of view...

City Attorney Hernandez: I didn't imply that sir, and if I did, I apologize for that, that was not my intension to imply.

Mayor Slesnick: Liz, I stay in contact with you regularly and I appreciate everything you ever tell me, and this is not - you know, everyone wants to take everything personal, this was not an attack on the City Manager, not an attack on the City Attorney, not an attack on anybody. I have expressed my heartfelt feelings that if I leave office next year and the Biltmore Hotel is closed or something like that, I will be crushed, and maybe I'll run again just to make sure it gets reopened.

Commissioner Anderson: Well, I'll actually personally would like a briefing; I'd like to learn a little more because it's been awhile, and I speak with Mr. Prescott, we chat and I have to tell you it's heartbreaking for me, because I don't want them to go, and if we could figure out a way, but I don't know what that way is unless either the audit is finished or there is a letter, I don't know enough, and I suggested what about a letter?- I suspect many of us have thought of different things to help. I would like that briefing...

City Attorney Hernandez: OK.

Commissioner Anderson:...because I really need to know more so we can see if we can fashion something whatever that may or may not be.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I feel uncomfortable speaking about this in this forum. I know that we are embroiled in a situation here, but I do understand the need and want of seeing the Biltmore survive; I don't think any of us want to see the Biltmore fold its tent. The interim agreement is something that we've spoken many times Mr. City Manager, about, and you've articulated your position as far as it goes, and it's something that I'd like to see completed, but when I've talked to Mr. Prescott its always been, you have to forego all the past rent to make this interim agreement fly, and I don't know if I can do that, so....

Mayor Slesnick: That is certainly not to be contemplated, OK?- that is certainly...

Vice Mayor Kerdyk:...because I'll do anything to help them bridge this gap, if there is anything we can do to help them bridge this gap to get to the loan that they need to utilize to operate that hotel, that's something that I would encourage doing. I don't want to forego the past, as I've said before, I think its two different situations; I think we look at the past one way and then we look at how we move forward from that point forward. So I'm still trying to get all those pieces to the puzzle before I make that final, final decision.

City Attorney Hernandez: And that was my intention in doing that.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: But I would like to tell you one last thing, I forgot to mention, if I could just spin this into another situation. Today is a big day, June 1st, you know what today is?- today is the day, well it's not so good, but today is the day we get our tax valuation. Let me tell you what it is, are you ready?- because I just got it from the Tax Assessor, ready - decrease 6.8 percent another $4.8 million dollars from our budget, that's the preliminary numbers I've gotten. So when we are starting to talk about helping people out and stuff like that, we've got to worry about ourselves too, helping ourselves out. Those numbers you need to validate them, but whatever it is we are going to be dealing with another situation. But I am a hundred percent for helping the Biltmore especially getting through the difficult summer months, a hundred percent.

Commissioner Withers: Let me just go back to the study here because I want to make sure we understand it. So we'll have the opportunity to meet with the consultants and then you'll, I'm assuming that's just us, that's without staff, without the City Attorney, that's just one-on-one?

City Attorney Hernandez: If you don't want me there?

Commissioner Withers: No, I don't know, I'm just curious to know how that's going to be set up.

City Manager Salerno: Well I would normally expect the City Attorney to be there, and myself.

Commissioner Withers: OK. No, that's fine; I don't have a problem with that. I just want to make sure we understand. So at that point we are going to talk to them and then you are going to come back, are we going to meet in public with a recommendation?- or...I just want to understand this process going forward.

City Attorney Hernandez: And I appreciate that Commissioner, because we've been obviously struggling with that as well because it is our desire to move forward, this is a partner and that's the way at least I view it and I know that Pat views it that way as well, and you know, the idea is to try and move forward, I'm assuming that once we get whatever picture is advised to the Manager, that at that point the Manager and my team and we'll meet with the Biltmore and say, this is what we can or cannot support, and hopefully in that menu of what can and cannot be supported we can reach consensus and agreement. We may not necessarily reach complete consensus, I'm hoping we will, but sometimes what will happen is you'll get a report from legal and administration saying, we support A, B, and Z, and Biltmore may be asking we also need Y and R, then it will be up to the Commission to decide.

Commissioner Withers: But it's collectively.

City Attorney Hernandez: Right

Commissioner Withers: We are not going to be expressing to each Commissioner how we feel?

City Attorney Hernandez: No, no, it will be a collective...the final agreement has to be a collective.

Commissioner Withers: But before that, getting to that point. We just heard a sidebar a minute ago where Bill stated a position and Don said he agreed with that position, but I never really heard that before.

City Attorney Hernandez: We cannot meet outside of the Sunshine.

Commissioner Withers: Of course Liz, I know that. I've only known that for nineteen years.

City Attorney Hernandez: OK. I'm sorry, I may be misunderstanding you guys today, you know, I'm trying to...

Commissioner Anderson: We can meet at the Liberty Café or the Country Club.

City Attorney Hernandez: Yes, there you go. You know, we will be meeting with each of you; obviously, I'm certain that the Biltmore has and will continue to reach out to each of you, hopefully with facts and figures from the consultants. We will have more information upon which to make appropriate decisions.

Commissioner Withers: Well look, it's a short term, it's a middle term, and it's a long, there are three issues here, OK. The middle term and the long term I think will shake itself loose after we've seen the numbers and decide what we want to do and how we want to move forward. I think that the concern that I've heard you all speak about today is the immediate short term issue. Now philosophically, if there's a business out there, and I don't care if it's the Biltmore Hotel, I don't care if its Barbara Stein Theater, I don't care if its Merrick Park, but I would think that if we have someone that is a caretaker of a city asset, especially - listen, I went through the closing of the Biltmore and the reopening of the Biltmore and I know the compassion that Bill's Dad had for it, and he was one of the driving forces behind it, but I can tell you right now that if there is a caretaker or an owner of one of our city properties that wants to take money and reinvests into that property, it's really only going to benefit us and maintain the asset, I don't know why we are not just doing cartwheels trying to get this person to help it out. I mean, we should be doing everything we possibly can short of writing a check to help that person get money to improve their asset. I don't understand the legal consequences, but heck, if there are going to be issues down the road what difference does it make?- whether they get a million dollars now or they need a million dollars eight months from now, why not get the million dollars now and put it into the property?- because we are going to end up with it anyway at the end of the day.

Commissioner Cabrera: This goes right back to what Don said though, this all comes back to what Don said; Don started this by saying...

Commissioner Withers: I'm sorry; go ahead Ralph.

Commissioner Cabrera: No, that's OK.

Commissioner Withers: No, I want to hear what you said.

Commissioner Cabrera: No, it's not important. No, I'm not interested in speaking.

Commissioner Withers: OK. Mr. City Manager if I'm way off base on this let me know why I'm off base on this.

City Manager Salerno: Commissioner let me just suggest a different perspective to what you said. Number one, you saw a short, a mid, and a long term; I think the premise for all three, the short, the mid, and the long is the PriceWaterhouse information, because based upon that information, it's going to give you what path you decide collectively you want to go on. It's not going to give you an answer for the short term, that's going to be different for the mid-term, that's going to be different for the long term. It's going to tell you a professional assessment of the finances of the operations and their ability to meet their obligations across the board, to the city, how they perform; are they performing in accordance with the market, are they performing better than the market, are they performing worse than the market, are there things that need to be changed.

Commissioner Withers: Understood.

City Manager Salerno: If you were told that there were fundamental problems with the way they operate, this is hypothetical...

Commissioner Withers: I understand.

City Manager Salerno: I don't you'd say OK, let's help them right now in the short term, but I'll have a different opinion on the mid and the long. Just like if you were told they are doing everything they can correctly, they are doing a bang up job, they are doing - and it's just purely the economy that has taken its toll, you might have a different view, and I would dare say that it probably be the same view for the short, the mid, and the long. I'm saying, you are not going to get three different assessments at different times; you are going to get an assessment that you, because you'll have the ability directly to ask questions of the consultants that will give you the answers for the short term, the mid-term, and the long term. The City Attorney has made a significant investment in time. It's taken nine months to get to an escrow agreement, they have started working only since, I think their first kick-off meeting with the Biltmore that Liz and I were at was in late March, the first documents I think were given to them perhaps in April, and they are moving expeditiously, but to - I'm trying to give you a perspective there that the information you get is going to help you over those three....

Mayor Slesnick: Mr. Manager with all due respect, I understand the logic; I'm telling you we won't be at these negotiations until September or so, and we want to make sure that we are dealing with the same people in September, there is an absolutely need to get them through this, and you know what?- if they did it for seventeen years and lived up to the lease, I don't think they should be distrusted that they are screwing with us in the last couple of years on their payments; and the people of Coral Gables ought to know that we audit them all the time, we are now doing way beyond what the audit has been required by the lease. So they'd been paying us according to their audits and according to the terms of the lease for a long time. I need to make sure they are there, and now the word is on the street and it did not come from Mr. Prescott, did not come from the Biltmore, I do not get all my information from the Biltmore, thank you kindly, that there are people lining up now and being lined up to take the lease and....excuse Seaway. Well, I don't think that's a proper approach for us to be taking to get to the lease negotiations, and I certainly hope it's not true, that there are people there now being courted to be ready to step in.

City Manager Salerno: Mayor just so it's clear. I have not had any conversations with one person interested in leasing it, Ms. City Attorney have you?

City Attorney Hernandez: No.

City Manager Salerno: I have not even heard of anybody, so inclined.

Mayor Slesnick: Well there are a couple of prominent citizens that are talking about...

City Manager Salerno: All I can speak for is myself...

Mayor Slesnick:...I'm just saying, I don't know who they've talked to, but they have seemingly talked to somebody. So I just - Mr. Manager with all due respect, I understand your point, I want to see, and it's just me, everyone else can speak up, but I'd like to see us find a way to help them get to their credit line to get through the summer, so they'd be there to negotiate with for the long and intermediate term. That's my feeling.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I just want to reemphasize, I agree with that; I see exactly what you're saying, the short, the medium and long term, that's the only way we can make a good decision, but the fact is that we want them to make sure they are there, so that we can make that good decision, that's what concerns me. It's just making sure they can get to that credit to help them over the very difficult months, and then we can make that proper assessment when you give us the tools.

Commissioner Anderson: If there's a way to do that without relinquishing any of the things that we need for our protection, I'm all for it, but I need to know more in an expeditious fashion.

Mayor Slesnick: Don't speak out of turn but, Rip I think everyone is trying to work on accelerating PriceWaterhouse, it's just an incredibly lengthy process, and a very delicate process, a very detailed process, and getting the report is just the beginning, that's what we are missing here.

Commissioner Withers: Liz and Bill, I don't know if you were on the Commission then, but the saving grace that the city had when the Biltmore reopened was that Barnett Bank was forced to come up with maintenance money to keep the air conditioning on. The doors weren't open, but the monument, the assets inside were protected, and if that wouldn't have happened it would have started from ground zero; and I don't know, I would just think if there was a business out there that protects one of our assets, and there was a way that we can help them open up a line of credit to keep them operational, we would be absolutely, I think it would just be a very poor business decision to let them fail and then we would have to pick up the pieces. Listen, if we are not partners with Gene and Seaway in September and October because they've mismanaged it, and we feel someone can come and manage it better or we feel, yes, they've done the best they can and it's a combination of things that have caused them and the environment to run into the situation they are in, then we make a decision moving forward based on either one of those scenarios, that's fine, but if there's anything we can do, I don't know, I don't know what the hang-up is with their lender, I don't know if it's a bluff, I don't know if it's a negotiating ploy.

Mayor Slesnick: The lender is afraid that they will loan the money and they'll be defaulted by the city.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: They are carrying a high debt on that property, high debt.

Commissioner Withers: Well I know.

City Attorney Hernandez: They're what?- I'm sorry.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: They are carrying high debt on that property; it's just not low debt.

City Attorney Hernandez: I hear you Commissioner, I will definitely follow up.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: So that's why the lender is somewhat cautious about giving, because their equity - everybody lends on equity, what equity is in the property.

Mayor Slesnick: Remember - people forget so soon, but Chip correct me if I'm wrong, but Barnett, I mean let's face it, the city took an incredible piece of property for one dollar, was it?- from the federal government, but that's deceiving, it sounds like you got a great deal, what you did was, the city took a gigantic asset and a gigantic liability and then Barnett Bank went down the tubes over the Biltmore - what was the final total debt there?- $87 million?- or - the amount to run this hotel and to rehabilitate it runs, and then the second investment pushed it over a hundred and something million, I mean you are talking about a building that is not just - you could have built a new hotel cheaper and run it easier and kept it up easier than you had the Biltmore; but the Biltmore is an iconic landmark national historic register, and the symbol and emblem of Coral Gables on most posters and magazine covers and everything else.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: You know just one more comment to that. The reason that Mayor Thomson could probably tell us if she was here, but the reason it was saved at that point was there was a special tax credit in the mid '80's or early '80's when this came about, or this thing would still be sitting vacant, and there was some great tax incentives that allowed people to invest in and people invested in it, and you're right, they drove up the debt and they failed in the early '90's I think, it was or late '80's, and then they reopened and the Biltmore has run seventeen or eighteen consecutive years without any problems.

Mayor Slesnick: But it carries a large debt, and by the way, I just didn't want anybody to misinterpret that somehow the current ran up a large debt, it's been a large since the day it reopened.

Commissioner Withers: Would it be out of the realm of reason for the lender to talk with the city?- Bill you know better than I do.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: If he could get great comfort by talking to the city, but...

Commissioner Withers: I'm just looking for any way to get this thing resolved.

Commissioner Anderson: For me, I speak personally, I just gave Liz - I want to have that conference ASAP, because I want to know can we fashion something. I'm looking for answers as well because I feel the same way about the community, they are a partnership. I think all of us feel that way; I mean, who hasn't enjoyed the beauty of that facility and the graciousness of its hosts, I just want to make sure that when we proceed we can make that loan happen, that would be great, but I want to know more, and I want to make sure we are on good footing, so that we don't make an error that - what can I say?- I've said it all.

Mayor Slesnick: OK. Mr. Manager, Madam City Attorney, I certainly hope that we'll look for some ways to address the concerns expressed here.

City Attorney Hernandez: I hear you Mr. Mayor.

Mayor Slesnick: Mr. Cabrera.

Commissioner Cabrera: Was Mr. Withers done with his items?

Commissioner Withers: I'm finished thank you.

Commissioner Cabrera: What happened was with this letter is Mr. McGrane, Miles McGrane wrote to Mr. Kinney, our Parking Director and in the process of writing Mr. Kinney he copied Mr. Slesnick, Mr. Kerdyk, Ms. Anderson, and Mr. Withers and then myself, but apparently none of us got this letter, the only reason it came to me is because of the nature of why he was writing us. Mr. McGrane was writing to us regarding Pierre's French Cleaners at 274 Alhambra Circle, that's a dry cleaning establishment, it's been there for many, many years, right near Salzedo, and apparently this company received a special permit or approval from the City of Coral Gables to purchase two parking spaces, so that the customers and clients of Pierre's could park there during the construction that was going on one block west of them on Alhambra and LeJeune; and the proprietors of Pierre's have actually seen their business do better and it's been a phenomenal courtesy that they have extended to their clients so they can in fact park in front of their dry cleaning establishment, and generally people are in there five-ten minutes. These parking spaces were also the short term parking spaces, but they were paying us rent, they are paying us rent for these, so they are not getting these for free, they are paying like everyone else. Well, they like that service so much that they've actually asked the city to extend it beyond the period of the construction timeframe, and I guess Mr. McGrane being either their attorney or client decided to write all of us and ask us for that consideration. Now, I tried to tell the owners of Pierre's French Cleaners that this is an administrative decision, it's not made by the Commission, that Mr. Kinney certainly has the right to do that as a department head and working for the Manager, that's an administrative call. I guess the only reason I brought it to all of us is, we are already giving up on-street parking spaces for loading zones to hotels and establishments, we're giving parking spaces to taxis, we're giving parking spaces to the valet parking establishments. In fact today we saw that valet parking was working so well in Miracle Mile, but we also give it to other restaurants throughout the downtown area, and forgive me for bringing up my favorite topic of all time, we lose on-street parking spaces for the streetscape or the large ash trays, as I like to refer them as. Here's a business that's coping with the economy, let's face it, we all have to think twice before we send clothes to the drycleaners these days because after all its expensive, and this is a drycleaner that's trying to give the courtesy to his clients in extending the parking, and so the nature of Mr. McGrane's letter was for this Commission to consider this. I don't know if it is something we should be considering personally, I agree that it's an administrative issue as I pointed out earlier, but this is an opportunity to not only help out a company that's doing business in our city for many years, but to capture constant revenue for the City of Coral Gables, because the reality is, if we rent these spaces to this establishment, these are not spaces that are not going to be paid for, they are going to be paid for during the period of time in which they are renting them. So we are missing a golden opportunity to generate revenue. Now the down side to all of this is, well gee, if Mr. Kinney does this for this company or this store, well he's got to do it for everyone. Well that's not the case; I think that you need to take these issues on a case-by-case basis and make a determination based upon the environment, the variables. Look at the case of this particular dry cleaning establishment. They are on a street that is undergoing construction that generally you can find parking most of the time, but not all of the time, and then the irony is you've got restaurants, and you've got hotels, and you've got other establishments that's are being given on-street parking and in some instances they are not paying for them. I know that there are some unloading zones that were formally an on-street parking space that are not being paid for as a commodity in our city. So I bring this to your attention because I'm sensitive to the plight of this dry cleaning establishment, I'm also sensitive to Mr. McGrane's letter, and I'd like to take the opportunity to pass it out to all of you. I think there is a little bit of misinformation in the letter, no fault of Mr. McGrane, but I think he misunderstood some of the information that was given to him by staff, and he's under the impression that this is coming before the Commission for consideration. Actually, I spoke to Mr. McGrane this past week, he was kind enough to call me, and he seems very passionate about this, and I applaud him. He also loves living in Downtown Coral Gables, and he apparently has moved to the downtown area and likes it very much, and understands the concerns that are voiced by his dry cleaning establishment and potentially his client; and so I bring it to your attention only because I think we should be looking at this on a second go-around; and once again, we're doing it for others, and secondly this is a lost revenue opportunity if we don't seize the moment, and thirdly this doesn't have to set precedence, this can be on a case-by-case basis. So for all those reasons I would really hope that some of you, if not all of you would support me on asking staff to reconsider this particular request. That's all I can do. I can't do anything more about this other than bring it forward for the rest of the members of the Commission to consider it. Any questions, comments, discussions, debates?

Mayor Slesnick: Of course I'm proud that Mr. McGrane is living in Downtown Coral Gables; he is a Past President of the Florida Bar, and a distinguished lawyer and citizen.

Commissioner Cabrera: Hey, by the way, I forgot to mention this and I apologize because it's unfair of me not to mention it, staff has in fact offered to meet with the dry cleaning establishment, but to the best of my knowledge, Mr. Kinney has denied it and also someone contemplated and I don't know who contemplated this from city staff, to bringing this to the Parking Advisory Board, that's the wrong place to take this. The Parking Advisory Board can only provide a recommendation, its non-binding. In fact, didn't your office make a determination on that?- or am I mistaken?

City Attorney Hernandez: I vaguely remember a meeting because I think it was just administrative, and I'm not sure that the Code provided for an appellate procedure.

Commissioner Cabrera: That what I think it was. I think that was your position, which incidentally I support.

City Attorney Hernandez: But I didn't know it was specific to this, it was just a general question.

City Manager Salerno: Mayor...

Mayor Slesnick: Mr. Manager.

City Manager Salerno: Mr. Mayor, Dona just mentioned to me that Mr. Kinney had indicated to the shop owners that he was inclined to deny their request, but it's my understanding that Dona has agreed to meet with Kevin and the shop owners to discuss this matter further before any final determination is made. That's the status as I was just told.

Mayor Slesnick: Well as Dona goes forward just let me weigh in, Mr. Cabrera has, I would think we should give this some consideration, I mean, I would - I don't know all the facts, but I'd be favorably impressed to consider it. Anybody else have any thoughts?

Commissioner Cabrera: I tried to give you as many of the facts as I could, and incidentally Ms. Spain has been more than interested in working with the shop. If I somehow implied that she wasn't, I apologize for that, because she in fact was, and I appreciate the fact that Mr. Kinney was also willing to have this meeting. I'm just - I'm bringing this out to all of us because look, I'm not going to play any games with anybody here. I go to Pierre's Dry Cleaners, they are my dry cleaning shop, and I've known them for many years, and I applaud what the owner and his wife have done all these years in the City of Coral Gables. You know when they bring something like this up, it's my responsibility to bring it to all of us, and as I told them this is not something that's within my purview of authority to rule on, but I certainly understand what they are trying to achieve, and when you see a struggling shop owner that wants to continue to do what they can for their customers at their expense, you say this is one good project to try to get behind, and that's the only reason I'm truly bringing this up to all of us, and then of course unfortunately Mr. McGrane's office didn't copy the rest of us because I got this letter while I was at Pierre's French Cleaners one day not long ago.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: Commissioner, thank you very much for bringing this up because I had not heard about it, thank you. You mentioned the thing that bothers me about the issue is the precedent. There are a lot of businesses right now struggling in the City of Coral Gables, and once you allow this, and let me tell you - there might be extenuating circumstances, that allow these people to have it, but when other tenants weigh in on the situation, they are not going to know about the extenuating circumstances, all they are going to know is Pierre has two parking spaces in front of his store, why can't I have two parking spaces?- and I have problems too; my economy is killing me, or they are redoing Ponce down there now, or whatever the extenuating circumstances are, that's the issue that I have with it; and you're right there are some businesses that have associated with other issues like parking as you point out, valet parking, or taxi cabs in front of them. But I will tell you in my opinion, by segregating out Pierre's and giving him two parking spaces for their store, I think it's going to open "Pandora's Box".

Commissioner Cabrera: What's the difference?- what's the difference between - no really this is debatable, what's the difference in your opinion, because I listen to you, what's the difference between restaurants having valet parking, and in fact many restaurants valet parking attendants leaving vehicles parked in that space instead of loading or unloading, what's the difference between loading and unloading zones?- what's the difference between taxi cab stands to a merchant that is not getting this for free?- and by no means, if other merchants want to do this they should be allowed to do this. I think that its free enterprise and we're selling a commodity, a commodity that is being...

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: But you're the one that wants more parking spaces throughout the City of Coral Gables, rightfully so.

Commissioner Cabrera: I do - absolutely - I do.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I'm just telling you Kerdyk Real Estate is struggling, why don't we put two parking spaces, how about....

Commissioner Cabrera: Hey do it, then you have to pay for it.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: That's OK, how about...

Commissioner Cabrera: You are not going to pay for it - you're not going to pay for it, because your business does not require that kind of traffic.

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: But the shoe guy down the street from me does.

Commissioner Cabrera: Then he's entitled to pay for it. I don't understand...

Vice Mayor Kerdyk: I'm just saying if you do it for one you are going to open up Pandora's Box.

Commissioner Cabrera: But you are already doing this, if I wasn't reinventing the wheel here, but no, we're already doing this. I could see the argument this is being done for a first time basis, its already being done, the precedent has already being set. What's the difference between a dry cleaning establishment and a restaurant? What's the difference between a hotel and a dry cleaning establishment? Sir? What you say Chip?

Commissioner Withers: its different hours too, isn't it?

Commissioner Cabrera: Oh, by the way, that's the best part. I forgot to mention it, gee Chip thanks a lot, I appreciate this. You know what when they close at six or seven o'clock at night, it goes back to being a public commodity, it doesn't stay a taxi cab stand for the rest of the year, it doesn't stay a loading or unloading zone for the rest of the year, it doesn't become a valet parking stall for the rest of the year, it goes back into the main stream of on-street parking.

Commissioner Withers: Being in the trucking business, leave my loading zones alone (laughter).

Mayor Slesnick: Two thoughts and in the principle of full disclosure, as Ralph did, I do not use Pierre's, so therefore any remarks I made I use another cleaners, which has thirty minute parking in front of it, that's what I use. So my support was not based on my patronage.

Commissioner Cabrera: My support was not based on patronage either; it was not based on patronage.

Mayor Slesnick: No, I know, I'm just saying, so you got support from....

Commissioner Cabrera: Believe me they charge me enough.

Mayor Slesnick: Secondly, I think that, and some of the issues you raised Bill, one of the things I'd ask Dona and Kevin and the City Manager to look at is that we also have special rules for the B.I.D., so the B.I.D. is kind of cared for by their valet parking rules. If people are located in the B.I.D., I think that sort of takes care of much of their issues by the valet parking; and one other thing Dona and Manager is that I still don't understand why in our fifteen minute parking and our thirty minute parking meters it is not clearly marked that, that expires and it can be used for longer parking at night. We have those for business sake, we have them along Andalucia, and at night people are totally precluded from using a lot of the good spaces, or they just go ahead and take their chances of getting tickets, or they don't know what to do, because they've got thirty minute parking spaces at night. Alright - if there is no more business; is there any more business to come before the City Commission?- if not we will stand adjourned until our next meeting is July 13th and we have a Budget Workshop on July 12th - same day, that's right I forget, you all changed that around, same day. We will have our next Commission meeting on July 13th and followed by a Budget Workshop after the Commission meeting. If in fact there is business in the Commission that needs to be transacted based on some of the issues we talked about, we will certainly call for a special meeting.

City Clerk Item No. 33

ADJOURNMENT

[Note for the Record: There being no further business on the Regular City Commission Meeting Agenda. The Commission of the City of Coral Gables adjourned its meeting at 11:44 am on June 1, 2010. The next regular meeting of the City Commission has been scheduled for July 13, 2010, beginning 9 a.m.]
