Summary of Significant Accounting Estimates

Fiscal Year Ended September 30, 2014

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the preparation of financial statements and are based upon management's current judgment. The process used by management encompasses their knowledge and experience about past and current events and certain assumptions about future events. You may wish to monitor throughout the year the process used to determine and record these accounting estimates. The following describes the significant accounting estimates reflected in the City's September 30, 2014, financial statements.

Estimate	Accounting Policy	Management's Estimation Process	Basis for Our Conclusions on Reasonableness of Estimate
Risk Management	The City is self-insured for general, auto liability, and workers' compensation. The liability for the amount of claims represents an estimate of the eventual loss on claims including claims incurred but not yet reported.	The City utilizes the services of an actuary to assist in developing risk reserves based on historical experience, open incidents and recent trends. The City approved the results of the actuarial determination.	We have audited the underlying data supporting the estimate and reviewed management's methodology which appears properly and consistently applied and have deemed the resulting estimate to be reasonable.
Pension Plans	The City has an actuarial valuation performed to determine the annual required contribution. Any net difference between the annual required contribution and actual contributions from or on behalf of the City are recorded as a net pension asset or obligation of the City at year end.	The City utilizes the services of actuaries to determine the City's annual required contribution. Management and the actuary determine the appropriateness of the actuarial assumptions to be utilized. The actuary then performs the calculation which is reviewed and approved by management of the City.	We have reviewed management's methodology which appears properly and consistently applied and have deemed the resulting estimate to be reasonable.

Allowance for Doubtful Accounts	All trade and other receivables are shown net of an allowance for uncollectible amounts to arrive at the net realizable value.	Receivables are analyzed for their collectability based on the terms and conditions stated in individual agreements. In addition to receivables specifically identified as uncollectible, a general allowance is calculated based on the City's historic experience.	We have audited the underlying data supporting the estimate and reviewed management's methodology which appears properly and consistently applied and have deemed the resulting estimate to be reasonable.
Accounting for Other Post Employment Benefits	The City has an actuarial valuation performed to determine the annual required contribution. Any net difference between the annual required contribution and actual contributions is recorded as a net asset or obligation of the City at year end.	The City utilizes the services of an actuary to determine the City's Annual Required Contribution. Management and the actuary determine the appropriateness of the actuarial assumptions to be utilized. The actuary then performs the calculation which is reviewed and approved by management.	We have audited the underlying data supporting the estimate and reviewed management's methodology which appears properly and consistently applied and have deemed the resulting estimate to be reasonable.
