Mr. Talbert further recognized newly appointed Commissioner Jeanette Slesnick; further thanking the City of Coral Gables for its effort in supporting the Greater Miami Convention and Visitors Bureau (GMCVB), said organization which represents Coral Gables every day of the week-pointing out that Coral Gables is in its organizations' DNA.

Mr. Talbert acknowledged that he is now a property owner in Coral Gables, and that he was able to move a key event, entitled "World Strategic Forum," from another part of the state, to Coral Gables, at the Biltmore recently; also, recently another entity, namely the Visit Florida Board met in our city, an organization that spends roughly $200 million to promote the state of Florida. Another key corporate executive, namely Chris Thompson, CEO, Brand USA ($250 corporation) will be speaking in our City next week. GMCVB conducts its People and Places Program This month one lay witness to Romance Month, Miami Spice, etc. For those visitors who frequent the area (i.e. journalist, meeting planners, etc.) Coral Gables is at the top of the list. Commissioner Keon queried Mr. Talbert as to whether the Big Bus Tour companies can produce a small Little Bus during their exploration of neighborhoods, whereby Mr. Talbert stated it would take back her concerns to said companies, because they have shown a willingness to be concerned about our tree canopy and not wanting to interfere with that].

One of the male subjects confessed to receiving the fraudulent credit cards by mail, and under the direction of an unnamed boss. he would use the credit cards to purchase gift cards and once the items were purchased then returned, he would pay the boss based on the amount of the refund. The male subject stated that he was recruited shortly after arriving from Cuba and could not provide further information on his boss. Both subjects were transported to TKG.

Michelle Christensen, Criminal Investigative Division indicated that she had contacted a US Postal Inspector who had advised her that he was familiar with the male subject and was working on an indictment involving eight other subjects involved in the same ring. K. DISCUSSION ITEMS

Mayor Cason: Commissioner Keon, discussion items?

Commissioner Keon: No. Fine, thank you.

Mayor Cason: Commissioner Lago?

Commissioner Lago: I just have one discussion item. I just want to recognize Fred, the City Manager, and our staff for doing a wonderful job yesterday in reference to the Memorial Day event at the Youth Center. It was great to finally honor our veterans. And I can't believe that we've never done this before, and it went off without a hitch. It was a great representation of what makes the City of Coral Gables beautiful, and, you know, it couldn't have been a better day. A little hot, a little hot, but it went very, very well, and I want to commend staff for doing something that was very well received.

Mayor Cason: Very good. The only suggestion is maybe we do it at 9 o'clock in the morning next time, because it does break up your day if you have a long holiday and you want to go...I mean, my family went off somewhere, but if we do it on the day and because it's less likely it'll be raining. Some of the people there were 92 years old in that heat, and they want to come all dressed up for the occasion. So earlier would be better, I think.

Commissioner Lago: Anyway, it's true what the City Manager said, and we were trying, obviously, to time it with a 3 o'clock moment of silence. But when I looked at what is known as the greatest generation of individuals that were there, I felt horrible for some of them, you know.

Mayor Cason: I mean ... I'd hate it to have to see people like George there, you know, with that heat and so. I have nothing. Commissioner Slesnick?

Commissioner Slesnick: Just a couple of things, and I'm going to be brief. The date for the North Ponce Workshop, did we decide on that?

Mayor Cason: The 12th.

City Manager Swanson-Rivenbark: Friday and the Saturday. I believe is June 14th and 15th, Friday and Saturday.

Commissioner Keon: It's Friday evening, Saturday morning. You have a long list of residents and contact people in that area that have been notified already.

Commissioner Slesnick: And I'd like to mention, I had been on a committee that studied North Ponce District back in June of 1994, and I have downloaded this and put this on, Vice Mayor Quesada has seen it already. It already covers a tremendous amount of things that will be coming up in that workshop, so I've downloaded it. So I'd like to send it to all of you...

Commissioner Keon: Please.

Commissioner Slesnick:...by e-mail, or anybody else that would like a copy of this. It's very extensive. The only thing, it's really interesting, it says that the area is already as dense as it's going to be, and that was before five or six new high-rise condominiums went in there. So I really like to send this to you. A lot of work went into this in 1994.

Mayor Cason: I think there were a couple other studies referring to...

Commissioner Keon: I think the staff has the 2001 study.

Commissioner Slesnick: Two or -- the charrette.

Cathy Swanson-Rivenbark: We add that to it. But, we have the Charrette study. We have a 2005 and we have a 2007 study, and just as a correction, it is the 12th and the 13th. It's the Friday and the Saturday.

Commissioner Slesnick: Thank you.

Commissioner Keon: And when did you have a time frame that you were looking at having to complete that study and have the information available to us by which staff will review all development?

Cathy Swanson-Rivenbark: The City Attorney has already placed it on the agenda for the August City Commission meeting, because we had said within three months.

Commissioner Keon: So by August, by the end of the summer, this issue will be dealt with. Good. Thank you very much.

City Attorney Leen: Yes.

Commissioner Slesnick: Thank you.

City Attorney Leen: At the direction of the Mayor, it's his sponsored item, but it's a re-evaluation of the policy, but it's in August, so they have the spirit of time now.

Commissioner Keon: Thank you. Good.

City Attorney Leen: For the City Manager to do the study.

Commissioner Keon: Because too often, we do those studies and no action occurs. So, we want to make sure that there is an outcome to this. And I know that you're also looking at US-1 and Sunset.

Cathy Swanson-Rivenbark: And that process has begun as well, in terms of a visioning.

Commissioner Keon: Yes.

City Manager Swanson-Rivenbark: And then before any project would move forward, it would be tested against that vision. So, we'll be sharing that with you as well.

Commissioner Keon: It's about the same dates, do you think? Or would it be August too?

City Manager Swanson-Rivenbark: Actually, this has been a -- three different people have come together framing it. It was Elizabeth Plater-Zyberk, Chuck Bole, and Meg Daly. They're providing some recommendations, we're going to review them, and then we'll share it with the homeowners, as well as the Commissioners what those findings are.

Mayor Cason: I think Mr. Reynolds that came to see me said they had 50 meetings with neighbors over the last couple years.

Commissioner Keon: Right.

Cathy Swanson-Rivenbark: But the vision and how that project will be tested....

Commissioner Keon: So, that's why we need to...and with the homeowners association, but come back, it wouldn't be inappropriate that some of the zoning along US-1, may change, or whatever, but not as extensively as we'd like.

Commissioner Slesnick: To continue. Just a couple things, in the North Ponce, this was called the Douglas Apartment District Task Force, but I had breakfast with Raul Valdez-Fauli, our former Mayor the other day, and one thing he really, was interesting project that he suggested is that when we're studying North Ponce and that they're a lot of old apartment buildings 8- or 10-, 12-unit apartment buildings in the North Ponce area that are historic and degenerating a little bit, and that, perhaps, someone could come in or think about changing those from 8-unit apartments to 4-unit, more expensive condominiums, and if there was some way to encourage developers to do that. We have on Seville, on the 500 Block, a 1920's apartment building that has eight units with a nice big parking lot next to it; and on Palermo, two or three of them, and down south on Bargello Avenue or whatever it is. Some of these older apartment buildings that were built in the 1920's that are really in bad shape, that maybe we can encourage a developer to come in and take those over. Just a passing thought. And I thought that was a great idea of his to save our historic buildings. And the Burger Bobs. With the golf course torn up, they're not getting the business that they used to be, because it was designed to service the golf course, and I'd like to see maybe some kind of rent decrease for the four months that the...just wanted to bring up the subject, while the golf course is not in use.

Mayor Cason: Is he seeing...are people still going there to eat?-or they just...because there's more than golfers. Does he think it's really hurting him?

Commissioner Slesnick: He had more people at breakfast usually than he had all day in the last four or five days. Sundays are OK, because people go there on Sundays, but people aren't there. The golfers are not there.

Mayor Cason: City Manager, what's your thought?

City Manager Swanson-Rivenbark: We're happy to sit down and meet with them. We have worked with the Biltmore regarding the pro shop, because we don't want people laid off during this time. So, it's consistent that we would also work with Burger Bobs just during this temporary period.

Commissioner Lago: That makes sense. Great idea.

Mayor Cason: Something that's happening to them and it wasn't foreseen, so...

City Attorney Leen: Would you give the City Manager all authority she needs to resolve that issue?

Commissioner Lago: Yes.

Mayor Cason: Yes

Commissioner Keon: Yes.

Mayor Cason: OK.

Commissioner Keon: He's been here for so long as an institution.

Commissioner Slesnick: And that was the last thing I wanted mention. Carmen, you were going to mention the workshop just briefly, because we have one coming up for realtors and homeowners.

Assistant City Manager Olazabal: Correct. We've planned four workshops...

City Manager Swanson-Rivenbark: And this is actually, excuse me. This is actually at Commissioner Lago's suggestion, in terms of a building forum on how we can improve the process. So we appreciate it.

Assistant City Manager Olazabal: Absolutely. So what we've done is, basically, we've set up four meetings with four different groups. We already had the first two. The first two were small businesses and restaurant owners and architects, developers and contractors. And we had that on May 21st. We're planning on having the second round of that on June 1st. The first one will be for residential and commercial realtors, which will be at 4 p.m., June 1st, in the Coral Gables Museum. And then we have a second session, which is the last session, June 1st at 6 p.m., which is for homeowners, so please spread the word out. We're trying to get as much feedback as we can. And the idea is that within a certain time frame, a short time frame, we'll come back with actions that we plan to take and how we plan to implement it, so.

Commissioner Lago: Let me just say one thing. I had the pleasure of attending the last forum; it was a great success, in my opinion. I think we had a great turnout in reference to architects, engineers, and developers. We had, I mean, ran the gamut, we had all professions there. Like the Assistant City Manager mentioned, the goal here is to hopefully get as much feedback during these four workshops, then put together an action plan which really makes a difference. Because what I've noticed myself and I imagine some of you have also noticed is that we have a little bit of PR (public relations) issue, and that PR issue has really morphed into more of an issue than the actual issue it is, because we don't have much of an issue in reference to permitting, planning. We have some minor things that may be corrected, but our main issue is really PR. Can we streamline the process? Yes. Can we rectify like we're doing with the permit assistance program and the peer review process? We can do all these things to make us even better and more efficient. But what I've noticed, at least in my profession, is that there's a stigma around Coral Gables because they say it's difficult to do business, and that's one of the things that once we have symposiums and we properly disseminate the information from the Miami Herald to other media publications and we talk about the process and the changes that we're making in City Hall. I think we're going to see a significant, public perception increase.

Assistant City Manager Olazabal: I full-heartedly agree.

Mayor Cason: And we ought to use our Communications Advisory Board to come up with some ideas how we can use Spanish radio and TV and all these TV programs and radio programs that are always looking for somebody to come talk about Coral Gables.

Commissioner Lago: For example, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, I'm going to be on the radio and some of the questions they're going to be asking me is what about Coral Gables. You know, they're going to ask me what's going on in downtown, what's going on in the residential neighborhoods. And one of the items that I'm going to mention is obviously about, some of the great projects that are forthcoming in the City. We want to invite projects to come to the City, as long as they meet our criteria and our standards.

Assistant City Manager Olazabal: Absolutely. I think, we're trying to make sure that it's we're making ourselves approachable, and if there are issues that they know the people they need to reach and that we're there for them.

Commissioner Lago: And I mean, you were there at the meeting, and I know that Commissioner Slesnick was there for a little bit before I got there. A lot of the individuals in the room, not a lot, all of the individuals in the room came up to me after and said, "We're happy you're doing this." I know you did this a long time ago, but it's good that, we're doing this again. Our voices are being heard. Now let's implement these changes, even if it's something minimal; that minimal change can have a big impact.

Assistant City Manager Olazabal: Agreed. And thank you for the feedback.

Commissioner Slesnick: Thank you, Carmen.

Mayor Cason: OK, thank you. So I think with that, we will end this meeting and come back, say, 2:30 for the discussion of the capital budget.
